ShowYa Press Kit

Show photos from your iPhone. Everyone follows on their own screen.

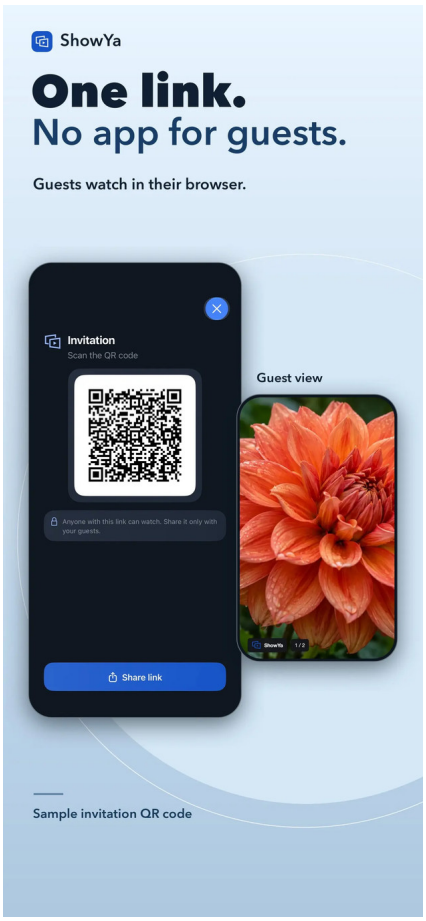

By Jochen Abitz, Stackswork

A shared view, live

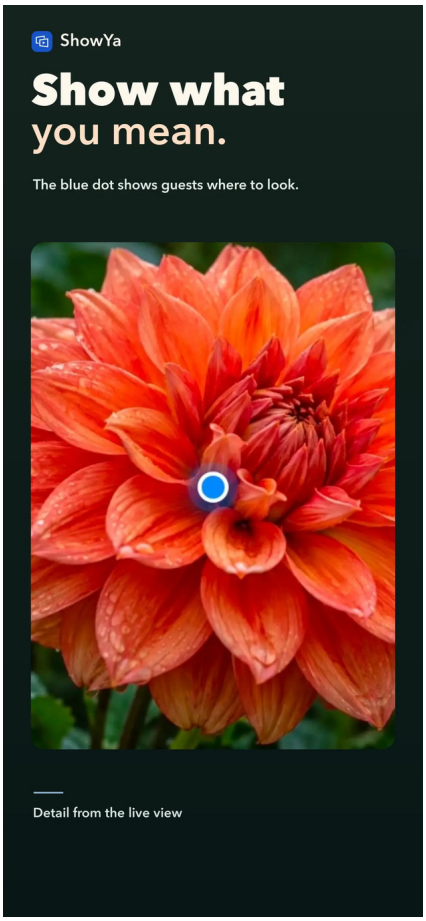

ShowYa turns a photo presentation into something everyone can see at the same time. The presenter shares an invitation, and guests join on a phone, tablet or computer. As the presenter changes photos, zooms or points to a detail, the guests' views follow live.

How ShowYa started

Jochen Abitz was showing photos to a large group around a table. People had to take turns looking at his iPhone. He wanted everyone to see the same picture together while he told the story. That became ShowYa.

Use it around the table, across different locations or when walking a client through photos and visual details. Guests open the invitation on their own device. They need no app or account.
